

Orquesta la Moderna Tradicion

“Phenomenal music...a joy and a real delight, the kind of band that reminds one of the connections between music across oceans, cultures and centuries...has universal appeal.” - CMJ Online

“Made the music’s beauty clear, and when it needed to get the dance grind going, it did, with rocking selections...” - New York Times

“Richly authentic...old wine in a new bottle for a younger generation to savor.” - Latin Beat Magazine

Orquesta la Moderna Tradicion - One of the only ensembles in the United States, perhaps the world, that is dedicated to the performance of classic Cuban dance music, especially the lilting grooves of the danzon. A legendary ballroom style that developed from the synchronization of African and European music in Cuba, danzon blends the groove of Afro-Cuban drums with the refined riffs of flute and violins. Led by the renowned Cuban dancer and percussionist Roberto Borrell and violinist/composer Tregar Otton, Orquesta la Moderna Tradicion performs classics of the genre along with original compositions designed to keep the tradition alive and kicking.
